Where Will Your First Bite Be?

With over 70 venues to choose from, you could start anywhere — a cosy café, a bustling pub, or a fine dining spot. Why not make it your mission to try at least one new place this week?

Spotlight on Marr

With its rolling hills, royal connections, and cosy country inns, Marr is the place to slow down and savour local hospitality. From Banchory to Ballater and Braemar, this region offers elegant dining, hearty pub meals, and cafés surrounded by breathtaking scenery.

Where to try:

- Farquharson's Bar & Kitchen, Braemar → Mountain views, modern Scottish cooking, and a warm Highland welcome.
- The Falls of Feugh Restaurant, Banchory → Riverside dining where you might just spot salmon leaping upstream.
- Milton Brasserie, Crathes → Fresh, local ingredients served beside historic Crathes Castle.
- Tor Na Coille, Banchory → Refined dishes and relaxed luxury in a country-house setting.
- Balmoral Arms, Ballater → Traditional Highland charm with a royal-approved twist.
- Buchanan Bistro, Banchory → Art-filled surroundings, sustainable cooking, and a creative community vibe.
- The Forbes Arms Hotel, Alford → Hearty meals and a touch of history beside the River Don.
- Rothsay Rooms, Ballater → Exceptional local produce in a setting once opened by HRH The Prince of Wales.
- Farquharson's @ Houghton House, Alford → A modern country restaurant blending classic flavours with stylish presentation.

Tip: Marr makes for the perfect autumn escape — wander forest trails, visit castles, then finish with a fireside meal and a glass of something local.

Opening Day Tip

Don't stop at just one outing. Restaurant Week is your excuse to mix it up:

- Try a midweek café deal
- Book a pub dinner with friends
- Save a fine dining night for a special occasion

Two weeks, endless ways to enjoy!
